MY IMPROVED

BEEF, IRON AND WINE

Transcript Office,

324 WASHINGTON ST., COR. MILK ST.,
Boston, October 6th, 1877.

MR. THEO. E. KING,—

Dear Sir: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect of your Beef, Iron and Wine upon the health of my wife, I hasten to reply, that she has used it at intervals for about a year, at all times receiving benefit. From a very debilitated condition she has been brought up to a strength remarkable for one who had been an invalid for nearly ten years.

Yours Truly,

B. F. PRIEST,

City Editor.

Ordered by postal card it will be delivered without extra charge.

My Hair Invigorator

I will WARRANT to arrest hair "falling," and that by the use of a single bottle. It is entirely unlike anything in the market. A dozen years ago I furnished it almost daily by order of Physicians at the City Hospital for their patients, I being at that time Apothecary of that Institution.

—♦♦ PHYSICIANS ♦♦—

Can have private formulæ made up and pills from the best materials, silver coated to order. Each bottle of

Citrate of Magnesia

(Fluid) is made to order. Siphons filled with it and charged from the fountain with plain Soda Water thus giving it WITHOUT Bicarbonate of Potassium, it getting its Carbonic Acid Gas from the Soda Water.

These can be used to the last dose without waste. Each Siphon contains the equivalent of two bottles.

Physician's Prescriptions (as heretofore) a Specialty.

THEODORE E. KING,

MT. BOWDOIN DRUGGIST.

DORCHESTER
Illustrated Almanac
FOR 1878.

The publishers of the Boston Beacon and Dorchester News Gatherer present the Dorchester Illustrated Almanac to the citizens of Dorchester with the hope that it may serve to entertain some, instruct others, and benefit all, in some small way or other. The local statistics which we give will surely be of interest to the native residents of Dorchester. The advertising pages will also prove profitable reading, indicating the enterprise of our tradesmen, and pointing out to would-be customers desirable trading places.

Dorchester Church Directory.

FIRST CHURCH (Unitarian), Meeting House Hill, REV. S. J. Barrows, Pastor.

This Church was gathered March 20th, 1630, at the new hospital in Plymouth, Eng., as they were about to embark for New England; their ministers were Rev. John Maverick and Rev. John Warham. Mr. Maverick died Feb. 3, 1636, and about that time Mr. Warham removed with a large part of the Church to Windsor, Conn.

Richard Mather was installed August 23d, 1636. Rev. Jonathan Burr was settled as colleague with Mr. Mather in February, 1640. Mr. Burr died Aug. 9. 1641. Rev. John Wilson, Jr., was ordained as colleague with Mr. Mather in 1649, and about two years after was settled in the ministry at Medfield, Mass., where he preached about 40 years. Rev. Richard Mather died April 22, 1669. He was succeeded by Rev. Josiah Flint, who was ordained December 27, 1671. He died September 16, 1680, in the 35th year of his age. Rev. John Danforth succeeded Mr. Flint; he was ordained June 8, 1682; he died May 26, 1730. Shortly before the death of Mr. Danforth, Rev. Jonathan Bowman was ordained his colleague. The ordination took place Nov. 5, 1729. He remained the minister until December 14, 1773. Rev. Moses Everett succeeded Mr. Bowman, and was ordained September 28, 1774; he resigned, in consequence of ill health, January 14, 1793. He was followed by Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris, who was ordained October 23, 1793. He resigned his office October 23, 1836, and died April 3, 1842. Rev. Nathaniel Hall was ordained as colleague with Dr. Harris, July 16, 1835; he died October 21, 1875, and his successor is Rev. Samuel June Barrows, ordained Nov. 2, 1876.

SECOND CHURCH, (Orthodox) Cor. Washington and Centre Streets. Organized 1808. Rev. James H. Means, D. D., Pastor; Ordained 1848. Hon. T. W. Bicknell, Superintendent Sabbath School. No. of members, 362; Number in Sabbath School, 330. Sabbath services at 10.30 A. M. and 3 P. M. Prayer Meetings Sunday, Monday and Friday evenings.

THIRD RELIGIOUS SOCIETY, (Unitarian) Richmond Street, Lower Mills.

The Third Religious Society is the Third Congregational Church in Dorchester. It withdrew from the Second Church, and built a house for worship, which was dedicated October 6, 1813. This building was used as a meeting house till 1840, when the present one was erected. The old building was known as Richmond Hall.

Edward Richmond, D. D., was the first pastor of this church. He was installed June 25, 1817. The same year the original church property, consisting of pasture lands, bank shares, and stocks, though legally belonging to the First Church, was generously shared by them with the Second and Third Churches, the latter receiving each a fourth part. The First Church was founded in Plymouth, England, two ministers having been there chosen to accompany the colony and take charge of it in the new country. The settlers arrived in 1630, ten years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. The first meeting house was built 1631.

Dr. Richmond was succeeded by Rev. Francis Cunningham, Rev. Richard Pike, Rev. Thomas J. Mumford, and Rev. Henry G. Spaulding. These devoted ministers (with the exception of Mr. Spaulding) have passed to the higher service of Heaven, leaving fragrant memories to blossom from the dust, in the hearts of their people.

The Third Religious Society is without a minister, Mr. Spaulding having resigned the pastorate in April, 1877.

NEPONSET AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH, Chickatawbut Street, Neponset, Joseph Banyard, D. D., Pastor.

CHOCOLATE, BROMA & COCOA PREPARATIONS.

An analysis made by Baron Liebig, the famous German chemist, shows that cocoa and chocolate are greatly superior to tea or coffee in all the properties which produce a healthy state of the body, and consequently of the mind. Coffee and tea are stimulants which often act injuriously; cocoa and chocolate are food which produce blood and cellular tissue. In its nutritive constituents, cocoa resembles beef; as an article of diet it exceeds in value milk and wheaten flour. It contains every ingredient necessary to the growth and sustenance of the body. It is universally recommended by physicians as useful to invalids and persons recovering from disease.

Frequent analyses have been made under the direction of Boards of Health and sanitary associations in our large cities, to determine the purity of chocolate and cocoa preparations sold in this country. In every instance the articles manufactured by Walter Baker & Co. have been reported as entirely pure and free from the admixture of deleterious substances.

These Goods are Sold by all the Principal Grocers throughout the Union.

Temperance Societies.

NEPONSET RIVER TEMPLE OF HONOR, NO. 19.

Although this is decidedly a Temperance Order, it is not, as many suppose, a reformatory organization, but rather to retain men to their pledges after they have reformed. It not only includes all that pertains to the use of intoxicating drinks in its pledge, but it asserts that to be a member an initiate must be a moral man. "He alone is our brother who holds these three-fold principles: Love to his God, his Country, and his Fellow man."

This Temple started April 28th, 1871, under very promising prospects, with 19 charter members. Among them were some of the most prominent business men of our Ward. It was continued with good success for some time, but on account of dull times and the organization of another very popular Order in the same hall, the interest seemed to die out, and for two years very little progress was made; but an effort was made about May, 1876, to revive and reorganize, which succeeded so well that to-day it is one of the most prosperous in the State. Since May, 1876, it has gained 42 new members. It now numbers 66 active members, with an average attendance, during last term, (summer months) of 30 1-3. The Temple meets on Tuesday evenings, in Hutchinson's Hall, on Forest Hill Avenue.

MUTUAL LODGE, No. 13, Sons of Temperance. Neponset. Meets Friday evenings.

The Albion Association.

Meets on alternate Tuesday evenings.

Few of our suburban localities have within their limits a larger number of well disposed, cultivated, and attractive young people of both sexes, than Dorchester. And the Second Church has certainly within its parochial bounds a fair share of the interesting young people of the town. In this Second Church its young ladies and young gentlemen, some years ago, set up an organization under the name of "The Albion," the objects of which are both literary and social. It has proved a great success. The meetings, which are held once in two weeks, have been well attended, and most interesting and profitable. A portion of these meetings are open to the public, and afford entertainments of a superior class. In the past the "Albion" has introduced to the audiences of Dorchester such fine public readers as Churchill, Cayvan and Ford, many excellent concert singers, and several fine lecturers.

The evenings which are termed "Sociables" are perhaps the most unique and attractive of any of their gatherings. Dorchester has long felt the want of opportunities for the sociable and friendly meeting together of those who ought to be and who are disposed to be friendly and sociable, and the now well-established and completely successful sociables of the Albion do an excellent work in helping to meet this want. All, both old and young, of the Second Parish take an interest in the Albion, and Rev. Dr. Means, the beloved minister of the society, has, from the first, lent his friendly and judicious aid.

The present board of officers is as follows:—President, E. L. Suffern; Vice-President, Gideon Mansfield; Secretary, H. G. Patten; Treasurer, Everett H. Sharp; Executive Committee, Howard R. Sharp, William Jenks, Walter S. Ufford, Amelia Mansfield, Edward Walker, Jennie Spurr, Fannie Thaxter.

Savin Hill Beach Association.

This Association was organized several years ago for the purpose of managing and regulating the beautiful shore of Savin Hill, as far as the matters of bathing, boating, etc., are concerned, and it has done a most excellent work. Its very reasonable code of rules and regulations for the Savin Hill Beach are at all times kept conspicuously posted upon the shore, and are very generally respected. These rules forbid all improperly dressed bathing, all disfigurement of the shore, all removing of sand, etc. Under the management of this Association the many bathing houses upon the shore which had long been in a dilapidated and filthy condition, have been cleared, repaired and locked. The Association has been at considerable expense in making a wharf for the use of the yachtsmen, in removing a reef of rocks, and keeping matters generally in good shape along the shore, yet to-day, unlike many of our larger corporations, it does not owe a dollar and has a balance in the Merchants' National Bank. All members are charged an entrance fee of five dollars, and are liable to annual assessments, but not liable to dividends. The membership now embraces all the gentlemen who moor their yachts on the Savin Hill shore, as well as most of the male residents of the Hill.

The trustees are Charles Nowell, Bigelow Morse, C. B. Patten; President, C. B. Patten; Secretary, Henry G. Patten.

SHAWMUT M. R. ASSOCIATION, Mattapan. Meet in Tolman's Hall, semi-monthly. Officers: Wm. Claffy, President; Jeremiah Chamberlin, Vice-Pres.; Geo. Burckhart, Recording Sec'y; Lemuel A. Withington, Fin. Sec'y; John W. Fleming, Treasurer.

Dorchester Yacht Club.

Organized 1869. 1st Commodore, Chas. E. Folsom, 1 year; 2d Commodore, Coolidge Barnard, 3 years; 3d Commodore, W. H. Bangs, Jr., 3 years; 4th Commodore, F. E. Peabody, (present officer).

This Club at present comprises 83 members and 58 yachts. About five regattas take place each year, besides an annual cruise. The present officers are as follows:

Com., F. E. Peabody; Vice-Com., S. P. Freeman; Sec'y and Tras., F. W. Weston; Fleet Captain, Geo. F. Clarke; Measurer, Hartford Davenport; Trustees, C. E. Folsom, Wm. T. Adams, W. H. L. Smith; Regatta Committee, Coolidge Barnard, Parkman Dexter, H. S. Mann, T. W. Preston, F. W. Weston.

Specialty.

FIM at specialty in business," said a successful merchant to a young man. "Most people succeed, not by doing many things as well as others, but some one thing better than others."

The remark is suggestive and true. Success comes through a reputation for superiority in some one thing. An expert diamond-setter will receive better payment than an artisan skilled in many branches of the trade: and the same principle is true in business, mechanics, and all the arts.

Learn many things, but make all acquirements contribute to one thing. There is a special line of success in every calling, and every life has a special work to do.

"You receive a fortune," said one to a great English author, "for a piece of work that it hardly takes you a dozen days to do."

"Yes," replied the writer; "but it has cost me a dozen years of special training to be able to do this work in a dozen days; and I receive a fortune because no one else has this special training, and can do the work so perfectly."

Mars and his Moons.

HERE is not one of the heavenly bodies, not even the moon, about which astronomers have learned so much as about the planet Mars. And yet until the night of August 16, 1877, it was not known that this near neighbor of ours in the solar system was attended by even one moon.

There is no other planet that is so like the earth as is Mars. It is known that there is an atmosphere about it. The surface is broken up into continents and oceans, which have been mapped out.

Around the poles there are snow and ice, which increase in winter and diminish in summer. The day of Mars is but little longer than that of the earth. It has been determined to the tenth of a second, and is believed to be 24 hours, 37 minutes, 22 3-4 seconds.

There is more reason to believe there is life upon Mars than upon any other of the planets. We are almost sure that Venus could not support life, at least not such as we know anything about, though there was a time when it might have done so. On the other hand, the outer planets, Jupiter, Uranus and Neptune are supposed to be too young to support life like that upon the earth. They are still vast masses of liquid and vapor.

All the planets are, according to the latest theory, going slowly through the process of cooling, and there will come, millions upon millions of years hence, a time when all will be cold and dead, unless in the meantime life obtains the power of existence under circumstances which now make it impossible. But Mars is in the same, or nearly the same stage of existence as the earth, and there is no reason why life, as we know it, should not be found there.

Mars' satellites are queer little things. They are now believed to be nearly of the same size, and neither of them is more than 100 miles in diameter. As our moon is 2160 miles in diameter it will be seen that they are nothing to be compared to the glorious orb of night. But on the other hand they are much nearer to the planet than our moon to us.

Prof. Hall's rough calculation made the distance of the outer one not more than 16,000 miles, and of the inner, probably 10,000. But a moon 100 miles in diameter, at a distance of 16,000 miles from us would appear to be two-thirds as large as our moon actually does appear; and one at 10,000 miles would appear to be rather larger than our moon.—Youths' Companion.

In 1692 seats were provided in the meeting house for 171 men and 180 women and they were expected to be in their seats; to them add children.

Dorchester was a place from which many emigrated in the early settlement of the town; many came there to remain with some friend until they made up their minds where to locate.

The births in the town from 1657 to 1734 inclusive, 78 years, were 2416, while the deaths during the same period, but 921, which shows that many born in Dorchester died elsewhere.

Extraordinary Seasons of Cold.

Anno Romæ, 356. The winter was uncommonly cold; the streets in Rome were obstructed with snow, and the Tiber was covered with ice, so as to be rendered innavigable.—Liv. lib. 5. 13.

Another instance is mentioned, in a subsequent period, when the snow lay in Rome forty days.

In the year of Christ, 153, the Thames in England and all the rivers were covered with ice.

A. D. 173, the snow in England covered the earth for thirteen weeks.

A. D. 400, the Euxine was covered with ice for twenty days.

A. D. 859, the Adriatic was covered with ice.

A. D. 929, the Thames was frozen for thirteen weeks.

A. D. 1263, and 1269, the Thames was covered with ice, so that horses and carriages passed over the river upon it.

A. D. 1607. 8, the weather was so severe as to cover the Thames with ice, and boats were built on it.

It appears that similar winters have occurred in every period of authentic history; several of them every century.

The first winter of uncommon severity in New England, after the pilgrims arrived, was in 1642, when the harbor of Boston was covered with ice, so that teams passed from one isle to another. Indeed, the ice extended so far at sea, that at Boston no water was to be seen.—Winthrop 240,243.

A. D. 1683, the winter in Europe and America was very severe. It is related that, in Europe, trees burst open, or were split by the intense cold.

A. D. 1696, 7, loaded sleds passed on the ice from Boston to Nantasket.

A. D. 1708, 9, in New England, the winter was nearly of the same severity. So intense was the cold on the 14th of December, that the day was not forgotten during the generation then living. Trees, grain, and vines were killed.

In February, 1717, fell the greatest quantity of snow ever known to fall in one storm. The depth cannot be ascertained with exactness, but it was several feet. In Boston, people went out of their chamber windows, in the morning upon rackets, snow-shoes. Farmers had no way to get wood, but by walking upon rackets. John Winthrop, of New London, lost eleven hundred sheep on Fisher's Island, where they were buried in snow sixteen feet deep. Two of the sheep, however, survived, being taken out alive after being covered twenty eight days. They lived by chewing the wool of the others; but after being relieved their own wool came off. See Winthrop's Letter, Historical Collection, Vol. II. p. 12. I do not find it mentioned that the cold of that winter was of unusual severity.

By Mr. Jefferson's observations, in his Notes, it appears that the winter of 1780 was the most severe;—as, in 1740, 41, York River was not frozen over; whereas, in 1780, the Chesapeake was covered with solid ice from its head to the mouth of the Potomac. At Annapolis, where the bay is more than five miles wide, the ice was five inches thick.

In 1788, 9, the Seine in France was covered with solid ice for several weeks.

It was remarked that in the severe winter of 1780, almost all the birds of the forest perished. Here and there only a solitary warbler was heard the next summer.

Winters of the utmost severity occur but three or four times in a century. Very mild winters are equally rare.

It is mentioned in history that, in one instance, two or three hundred years ago, there was really no winter in Europe; and, in the spring following, the wheat in the north of Europe was harvested in May. In 1755, 6, troops were transported by water, from New York to Albany, in January and February. In 1795, ladies walked upon the battery on Christmas day, without shawls.

In February 1779, I saw farmers ploughing their fields in the county of Hartford.

Dorchester Anti-Slavery Society.

After several preliminary meetings for that purpose, the Dorchester Anti-Slavery Society was organized April 24, 1835, in the old Town Hall. The following named persons were chosen officers: President, Samuel Mulliken, M. D.; Vice President, Richard Clapp, Esq.; Corresponding Secretary, Rev. David Sanford; Recording Secretary, Orin P. Bacon; Treasurer, Dea. Joseph Clapp; Managers, Dea. Isaac Howe, Col. J. P. Clapp, A. W. Withington, Joseph Clapp, Jr., Orin Hildreth, John A. Tucker and Capt. James Pierce. An address was delivered on this occasion by the late Rev. Samuel J. May. The object of the society as set forth in the 8th and 9th articles of the Constitution was as follows: The object of this society shall be to promote the entire abolition of slavery in the United States, by collecting and diffusing information concerning its true character, by endeavoring to convince our countrymen by arguments addressed to their understanding and consciences, that slaveholding is a heinous crime in the sight of God, and that the duty, safety, and best interests of all concerned, require its immediate and unconditional abandonment.

This society shall aim to elevate the character and condition of the people of color, by encouraging their intellectual, moral and religious improvement, and by correcting the prejudice of public opinion; but never to countenance the oppressed in vindicating their rights by resorting to physical force.

In 1840, Richard Clapp, Esq., was chosen president, and Mr. Increase S. Smith, in 1845. Dr. Mulliken was a physician in Dorchester, much beloved and respected; he departed this life in 1843.

Richard Clapp, a well-known and respected citizen, died in December, 1861.

Increase S. Smith was a highly educated man, and took great interest in the public schools of Dorchester. He died in May, 1866.

The society above mentioned did much to spread information about slavery, by public lectures, and an anti-slavery library, the books of which were deposited in different parts of the town.

Some of the clergymen in Dorchester gave their influence and assistance to the cause in the early years of the anti-slavery movement. Revs. Sanford and Butler of the Village Church, Revs. Sargent, Knight and Spaulding of the Methodist. Rev. Dr. Hall of the First Parish, Unitarian, who from time to time for nearly thirty years spoke words of encouragement to the friends of the slave, denounced the fugitive act, and was a strong advocate of freedom of speech.

We would not forget the faithful manner in which the Rev. Samuel Johnson spoke on this subject from time to time during the period that he supplied the pulpit of the Unitarian Society at the Harrison Square Meeting House. His sermon at that place in favor of the higher law as against the fugitive slave act, gave great satisfaction to the abolitionists, so much so that the entire sermon was published in the Liberator.

While the abolitionists regret that one of our Dorchester pulpits was used in defense of the fugitive slave law, they rejoice that but one was used for that purpose.

KEEP THY SHOP, AND THY SHOP WILL KEEP THEE.

QUEEN OF MAY.

The Family Journal.

IN a certain farm house, twenty years ago, a great blank book was kept, and labeled "Home Journal." Every night some one made an entry in it. Father set down in it the sale of calves, or mother the cut of the baby's eyetooth; or perhaps Jenny wrote a full account of the sleighing party last night; or Bob the proceedings of the Phi Beta Club; or Tom scrawled, "Tried my new gun. Bully. Shot into the fence and hit Johnson's old cat."

On toward the middle of the book was the entry of Jenny's marriage, and one of the younger girls had added a description of the bridesmaids' dresses, and long after this there was written, "This day father died," in Bob's trembling hand. There was a blank of many months after that.

But nothing could have served better to bind that family of headstrong boys together than the keeping of this book. They come back to the old homestead now, men and women with grizzled hair, to see their mother, who is still living, and turn over the pages reverently, with many a hearty laugh, or the tears coming into their eyes. It is their childhood come back again in visible shape.—Scribner's Monthly.

If you wish to make yourself agreeable to any one, talk as much as you please about his or her affairs, and as little as possible about your own. People are such downright egotists themselves, that they cannot tolerate egotism in others.

HALLO.

Do it Now.

DON'T live a single hour of your life without doing exactly what is to be done in it, and going straight through it, from beginning to end. Work, play, study, whatever it is—take hold at once and finish it up squarely and cleanly; then to the next thing, without letting any moments drop between. It is wonderful how many hours these prompt people contrive to make of a day; it is as if they picked up the moments that the dawdlers lost. And if ever you find yourself where you have so many things pressing upon you that you hardly know how to begin, let me tell you a secret; take hold of the first one that comes to hand, and you will find the rest all fall into file, and follow after, like a company of well-drilled soldiers; and though work may be hard to meet when it charges in a squad, it is easily vanquished if you can bring it into line. You may have often seen the anecdote of the man who was asked how he had accomplished so much in his life. "My father taught me," was the reply, "when I had anything to do, to go and do it." There is the secret—the magic word now.

Schoolmistress.—"Johnny, I'm ashamed of you. When I was your age I could read as well as I do now." Johnny.—"Aw, but you'd a different teacher to what we've got."

SOME ARE WEATHERWISE, SOME ARE OTHERWISE.

Pickles and Preserves.

RANGE PRESERVE.—Boil the oranges in water till you can run a straw through the skin. Clarify three-quarters pound of sugar for each pound of fruit. Take the oranges from the water and pour the hot syrup on them. Let them stand one night. Next day boil them in the syrup till it is thick and clear.

Sweet Pickle.

Nine pounds peaches, three pounds sugar, three quarts good cider vinegar. Peel the peaches, then put them with the sugar and vinegar in a porcelain-lined kettle, cook for five or ten minutes; put two cloves in each peach; add a little whole allspice.

Pine-Apple Jam.

Peel, grate, and weigh the apple. Put pound to pound of pine-apple and sugar. Boil it in a preserving-kettle thirty or forty minutes.

Crab-Apple Marmalade.

Boil the apples in a kettle until soft, with just water enough to cover them. Mash, and strain through a coarse sieve. Take a pound of apple to a pound of sugar; boil half an hour, and put into jars.

Preserved Peaches.

Take ripe freestone peaches; pare, stone, and quarter them. To six pounds of the cut peaches allow three pounds of the best brown sugar. Strew the sugar among the peaches, and set them away in a covered vessel. Next morning, put the whole into a preserving-kettle, and boil it slowly about an hour and three-quarters, or two hours, skimming it well.

Tomato Catsup.

One gallon of tomatoes (after being peeled, boiled, and strained), one pint vinegar, nine tablespoons salt, three tablespoons of black pepper, three tablespoons of mustard-seed ground fine, one teaspoon of Cayenne pepper, one-half teaspoon of cloves, and the same of allspice.

Pickled Cauliflowers.

Cook the cauliflower until tender; put in jars; then pour vinegar and ground mustard, previously scalded together, over them.

MOTHER'S DARLING.

Fun Alive.

Never look a gift mule in the hind foot.

It is only the peanut men that really enjoy this life, for theirs is a cash business.

Woman's refuge. The other day a little girl of three and a half, while playing with her Aunt Alice's ring, lost it. Both looked for it some time without finding it, when, in despair, the little one said: "Come, Aunt Li, let's cry!"

Never go where you are not wanted. If a man wants you to come to his place of business, he will invite you through an advertisement. It is wrong to intrude on any privacy.

A young lady in town, who does not pride herself particularly on being a political economist, thinks the sooner greenbacks reach "pa," the sooner she will be able to invest in a new bonnet.—Rutland Herald.

Two men were riding in the cars on the Danbury railway the other morning, when one asked the other if he had a pleasant place of residence. "Yes," was the reply, "We have seven nice large rooms over a store." "Over a store! I shouldn't think that would be a quiet place." "Oh, it is quiet enough. The folks don't advertise." "Ah! I see," said his friend, in a tone of relief.

A boy tried his first pipe the other day. When his father came home to dinner he found him braced against a barrel, with his legs spread apart, his hands and lower jaw drooping listlessly, and a deathly pallor overspreading his face. "What is the matter with you?" inquired the amazed parent. "My teacher is sick," gasped the boy. "Well, you musn't feel so badly about it, Tommy," said the father kindly. "She will get well again without a doubt." And then, stepping into the house, he observed to his wife that Tom was the most sympathetic boy he ever saw.

Uses of the Lemon.

EDICAL men constantly urge the use of the lemon. A piece of lemon bound upon a corn may cure it in a few days; it should be renewed night and morning. A free use of lemon juice and sugar will always relieve a cough.

Most people feel poorly in the spring, but if they would eat a lemon before breakfast every day for a week, with or without sugar, as they like, they would often find it better than any medicine.

Lemon juice used according to this recipe will sometimes cure consumption:

Put a dozen lemons into cold water and slowly bring to a boil; boil slowly until the lemons are soft, but not too soft, then squeeze until all the juice is extracted, add sugar to your taste and drink.

Another use of lemons is for a refreshing drink in summer, or in sickness at any time. Prepare as directed above, and add water and sugar.

But in order to have this keep well, after boiling the lemons, squeeze them and strain them carefully; then to every half-pint of juice add one pound of loaf or crushed sugar, boil and stir a few minutes more until the sugar is dissolved, skim carefully and bottle.

You will get more juice from the lemons by boiling them, and the preparation keeps better.—London Lancet.

Autumn Leaves.

PRESS the leaves carefully between newspapers, taking care to avoid lapping one over another. The next day take out the leaves and dry the papers. Put the leaves again in press, and the next day repeat the drying process. This should be done three or four times, until all the moisture is extracted from the leaves. This is troublesome, but the result will be brilliant. If the face of each leaf, after the first pressing, is brushed over with sulphuric acid, diluted one-half with water, the color will be still brighter. Do not wax or varnish the leaves, as it gives them an unnatural gloss. They can be made into sprays or garlands by means of the fine wire which florists use, twisted around their stems.

SCENE ON THE COLORADO RIVER.

COLORADO has been called the Wonder land of America, and it richly deserves that title. The Colorado river has recently been explored by Major J. W. Powell, and this engraving gives some idea of this wild and tumultuous stream.

Advice to Boys.

BY HENRY DOWNTON.

WHATEVER you are, be brave, boys!
The liar's a coward and slave, boys;
Though clever at ruses,
And sharp at excuses,
He's a sneaking and pitiful knave, boys!

Whatever you are, be frank, boys!
'Tis better than money and rank, boys;
Still cleave to the right,
Be lovers of light,

Be open, aboveboard, and frank, boys!

Whatever you are, be kind, boys!
Be gentle in manners and mind, boys!
The man gentle in mien,
Words, and temper, I ween,
Is the gentleman truly refined, boys!

But, whatever you are, be true, boys!
Be visible through and through, boys;
Leave to others the shamming,
The "greening" and "cramming,"
In fun and in earnest, be true, boys.

—Leisure Hour.

A farming exchange informs us "how to tell bad eggs." When an egg is bad a man doesn't want to tell it anything—he wants to get right away from it.

The man of ideas is an agreeable companion, but the man of an idea is an unmitigated bore.

Constant Practice.

ETERNAL vigilance is said to be the price of liberty; and an eminent pianist finds that constant practice is the price of musical success:

Dr. Hans von Bulow is reported to have said:

"If I stop practice for one day I notice it in my playing; if I stop two days my friends notice it; if I stop three days the public notices it."

Santa Claus.

ANTA CLAUS came here last night

On his flight.

Down the chimney-top he flew :

He had lots of work to do,

Well he knew.

So he heaped the stockings high,

Said " Good-by."

Now, of toys he had no lack :

They were carried on his back,

In a sack.

What did little Flora find ?—

Flora kind.

Why, a doll with golden hair,

Candies, and a tiny chair,

I declare !

"LOOK BEFORE, OR YOU'LL FIND YOURSELF BEHIND."

WHAT MAY HAPPEN WHEN LITTLE BOYS PLAY LEAP-FROG TOO MUCH.

HOLD ON, BOYS.—Hold on to your tongue when you are just ready to swear, lie, or speak harshly, or use an improper word. Hold on to your hand when you are about to punch, strike, scratch, steal, or do any improper act. Hold on to your foot when you are on the point of kicking, running off from study, or pursuing the path of error, shame or crime. Hold on to your temper when you are angry, excited or imposed upon, or others are angry with you. Hold on to your heart when evil associates seek your company and invite you to join in their mirth, games and revelry. Hold on to your good name at all times, for it is of more value than gold, high places, or fashionable attire. Hold on to truth, for it will serve you well throughout eternity.

A sea-horse is a sea-horse
When you see him in the sea;
But when you see him in the bay,
A bay-horse then is he.—Tom Hood.

Oh, that Baby!

Oh, that baby!
Oh that love of a baby!
Eyes so bright, lips so sweet,
Dimpled hands, and dimpled feet,
Oh, that baby!
Oh, that baby!
Such a wonderful baby!
Never cries, sleeps 'o nights,
Never frets and never fights,
Oh, that baby!
Yes, that baby!
Love of a dove of a baby!
Cooing soft all the day,

Always good, come what may,
Oh, that baby!

Is it Anybody's Business?

Is it anybody's business
If a gentleman should choose
To wait upon a lady,
If the lady don't refuse?
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That the meaning all may know,
Is it anybody's business
If a lady has a beau?
Is it anybody's business
When that gentleman does call,
Or when he leaves the lady,
Or if he leaves at all?
Or is it necessary
That the curtain should be drawn,
To save from further trouble
The outside lookers-on?
Is it anybody's business
But the lady's, if her beau
Rides out with other ladies,
And doesn't let her know?
Is it anybody's business
But the gentleman's, if she
Should accept another escort,
Where he doesn't chance to be?
Is a person on the sidewalk,
Whether great or whether small,
Is it anybody's business
Where that person means to call?
Or, if you see a person
As he's calling anywhere,
Is it any of your business
What his business may be there?
The substance of our query,
Simply stated, would be this:
Is it anybody's business
What another's business is?
If it is, or if it isn't,
We would really like to know;
For we're certain, if it isn't,
There are some who make it so.

Educational Maxims.

DO right before children ; that is the best way of teaching them to be good.—Moscherosch.

It would be well if some older person were present at all diversions of youth.—Cicero.

Above all are we instructed by the life and morals of the teacher who is selected for us by our parents.

Intimate friendship between children should be permitted only with noble minds and hearts.—Plutarch.

For children there is absolutely no morality except example, either narrated or seen.—Jean Paul Richter.

Among the Persians the boys were especially trained to temperance, by seeing how their elders lived temperately.—Xenophon.

That was an excellent saying of the Spartan instructor, "I will accustom the boys to take pleasure in what is good, and to abhor what is evil." Truly the most excellent and proper purpose which education could aim at.—Plutarch.

It is singular how early in life a child gains the reputation of resembling the richest and best looking relatives.

The Little Girl Who Wouldn't Say Please.

There was once a small child who would never say please,
I believe, if you even went down on your knees ;
But, her arms on the table, would sit at her ease,
And call out to her mother in words such as these :
"I want some potatoes !" "Give me some peas !"
"Hand me the butter !" "Cut me some cheese !"
So the fairies, this very rude daughter to tease,
Once blew her away in a powerful breeze,
Over the mountains, and over the seas,
To a valley where never a dinner she sees,
But down with the ants, the wasps, and the bees,
In the woods she must live till she learns to say please.

—St. Nicholas Magazine.

There is just one thing about it. The lady who insists on carrying a good share of her dress in her hand has got to keep her shoes tied up or let everybody know that she left home in a hurry.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

By the Evening Lamp.

THE most cheerful, happy-looking evening home circles which we have been permitted to see were those where there was an effort made to have reading for the benefit of all—one reader—while others were devoted to what tasks they might do. Some good book or pamphlet was the order. Now and then father would put in some word of comment, and mother would make an inquiry. And thus the evening passed happily and profitably along. Where the harmony of the home circle thus collects there must be some light of pleasure burning, the rays from which never shall be destined to go out from the recollections of those who go into the busy marts of trade and of the world. These benefits will be felt in many a moment of after life, and thought will be swiftly sped back to the old times—long past, so homelike, so profitable, so happy!
